NEWS OF THE WATERFRONT

WHAT IS DOING ALONG THE DOCKS.

The Schooner Olga Sails By This Morning—About Island Steamers—S. S. Warrimoo Tomorrow.

The steamer Mikahala will leave for Lahaina tomorrow.

The S S Warrimoo is scheduled to arrive from British Columbia tomorrow.

Captain Macaulay, the genial pilot, is engaged at present in regaining his "land legs."

The Waialeale arrived from Kauai at noon today. Nothing new about the Lihue trouble was brought.

Tomorrow, high tide large 3:38 p. m.; high tide small 2:55 a. m.; low tide large 8:36 a. m.; low tide small 10:10 p. m.

The schooner Olga, Ipsen master, arrived off port this morning 62 days from Newcastle, with coal. Pilot Sanders took out orders for her to proceed to Kahului.

The S F Commercial News says: Captain Haskell, formerly of the B P Cheney, has gone north to relieve Captain Morse in command of the C F Sargent, now loading coal at Departure Bay for Dutch Harbor. Captain Morse will be placed in command of the Fort George upon that vessel's arrival.

The Best on Record.

An exchange says the British ship Miltiades, from San Francisco Dec. 29 with cargo of barley and merchandise, arrived at London after a passage of 84 days. This is said to be the best passage by two days ever recorded between the two ports.

Secrets of the Deep.

A very ingenious and simple contrivance is used to bring to the surface samples of sea water taken from great depths, and un-mixed with water from the other depths which it has passed through in reeling in. It consists of a cylinder with a valve opening upward at each end, the two valves being connected with a shaft. These valves open as the cylinder goes down, allowing the water to flow through it. On the top of the cylinder is a small propeller attached to a threaded shaft, and when the cylinder is drawn up this propeller revolves, screwing down the shaft, which in turn screws down onto the valves, sealing them hermetically, with the sample of water which was inside of the cylinder when the upward motion began. Some of the most interesting problems of deep sea investigation have been worked out from the water taken in this way.—Exchange.

Will be Spliced.

Jas B Von Hagen, a young man employed by the Inter Island Steamship Company, has been stricken by Cupid's shaft, and is soon to wed a beautiful American lass.

James has resided in the Paradise of the Pacific but a short while, but, liking the country, intends to remain in this land of continuous summer. Mr Von Hagen was formerly employed as a steward, both ashore and afloat, in the Pacific Coast Steamship Company for a period of seven years. While the steamer Mauna Loa, the largest craft of the Inter-Island Co's fleet, was being fitted out at San Francisco, he secured the position of chief steward in her, and in that capacity arrived at Honolulu the latter part of last year. Later he was transferred to the steamer Mikahala, holding that position until a few days ago. He is now in a newly made position—as "port steward" for the whole fleet—having the supervision of the supplying of stewards' stores for all the boats. James says he will give a luau in honor of the coming happy event, at which all his friends will be welcome.

BORN.

ARNAUD—In Honolulu, April 14, 1897, to the wife of Louis Arnaud, a son.

Royalty Equipped With Trades.

The Prince of Wales is said to have learned in his youth to make stockings, says the New York Advertiser. His son, the Duke of York, learned the trade of rope-making. His cousin, the Czar Nicholas II, can plow, sow and reap. The Emperor William is a practical typesetter. King Humbert is not only an excellent shoemaker, but cobbles also to perfection. Oscar of Sweden handles the ax with dexterity, like an approved woodman, not even yielding the palm in this respect to Mr. Gladstone. Queen Victoria is exceedingly fond of knitting. Not long ago she finished a woollen coverlid and presented it to the oldest and most deserving of the inmates of an asylum for disabled workingwomen in the Isle of Wight.

J. T. WATERHOUSE

The "Australia" takes away orders for delicacies which we have introduced to the Honolulu public and which find places on the tables of the epicures of Honolulu.

Tinned Goods, many of them, but they are prepared so capably that they surpass even the fresh goods. The demand for these special lines is growing mainly because of the care taken in the factories where they are put up. The material is carefully selected and only the best is sent to Honolulu.

We have now on our shelves and ready for delivery the Epicurean Brand Vienna Sausage, Shrimps with Tomatoes, Baked Beans with Tomatoes, Lobster and Lunch Oysters; for the table no better goods have ever been brought to the islands.

We have also a superior quality of Ground Chocolate and Schilling's Best Teas and Spices; Crackers and Fancy Biscuits.

Telephone orders for these goods will have immediate attention. Our wagon is always on the go for the accommodation of our customers.

It is not always the amount of money paid for an article that determines its value. Cheaper and much commoner goods are often sold for more money than is asked for this line, an inspection of which is solicited.
